

CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY

McCall Bill Favorably Reported to Congress

CAN BE FORCED TO A VOTE

Favorable Report Is Ordered, 4 to 2. Bill Penalizes Secrecy of Election Funds—Passage by the House Is Probable.

Washington, March 14.—Compulsory publicity for election campaign contributions and expenses came a great way nearer to being an accomplished fact Saturday, when the House committee on elections of president, vice president and members of Congress reported with a favorable recommendation the bill introduced by Representative McCall, a Republican member from Massachusetts, which has been reposing in that committee almost since the present session began.

Action on the measure was accomplished only after prominent men, who have been advocates of the measure, had brought much pressure to bear.

Recently, Perry Belmont of New York, Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio and Dr. Charles W. Eliot, former president of Harvard, addressed letters, which have appeared in print, deploring the inactivity of Congress in the matter and demanding that the committee having the bill in hand take some action. Mr. Belmont has spent the last fortnight in Washington, bringing pressure to bear in favor of the bill.

The Democratic members of the committee, led by Representative Rucker of Missouri, after petitioning Chairman Gaines of the committee several times to call a meeting of the committee to consider the bill, a few days ago, gave out statements strongly denouncing the Republicans for "holding up the bill." It was declared that the Democrats were solidly in favor of the McCall measure.

When the committee convened Saturday, it was with great difficulty that a quorum was obtained. After waiting for an hour and a half, sufficient Republican absentees were found. The bill was taken up at once, and with slight amendment was passed, the Democrats voting for it and the Republicans being divided.

Those voting for the bill were Representatives Rucker of Missouri, Harwick of Georgia, Conry of New York, Democrats; and Ellis of Oregon, Republican.

Representatives Sulloway of New Hampshire and Madden of Illinois, Republicans, voted in the negative.

Chairman Gaines refrained from voting.

The reporting of the bill insures that it will be taken up by the House at an early date, and according to the claims of both Republicans and Democrats, will pass the House. If it becomes a law, it will apply to the congressional elections this fall.

The bill makes it mandatory for the treasurer of every political committee in any congressional campaign where two or more states are affected, to file not more than 15 days nor less than 10 days before an election with the clerk of the House of Representatives, a complete detailed statement of all campaign contributions in excess of $10, and the disbursement of the same.

He must also file within 30 days after the election a final sworn statement. The statements must contain the names

Free If It Fails

Your Money Back if You Are Not Satisfied with the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief, you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of the world's greatest research chemists. As an active agent, it possesses the valuable qualities of the best known intestinal tonic, as well as being particularly pleasant and prompt in its results.

We want you to try REXAL Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associated organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical origin, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. They come in two sizes of packages, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents. Sold in Barré only at our store, The Rexall Store, The Red Cross Pharmacy, Burt H. Wells, proprietor.

CALHOUN DAY AT THE CAPITOL

Ceremonies of Unveiling and Accepting the Statue of John C. Calhoun.

Washington, March 14.—Saturday was John C. Calhoun day at the national capitol, the occasion being the acceptance by Congress of the statue of South Carolina's greatest statesman. Before the two houses assembled there were exercises appropriate to the unveiling of the statue in Statuary Hall. The unveiling was executed by Miss Margaret Adams Gist and Mrs. Robert Montrose Bratton, both of South Carolina. There were speeches by Gov. Ansel and former Lieutenant-Governor Mauldin of South Carolina, who paid tribute to Calhoun's memory.

When the Senate met, the resolution accepting the statue was adopted, and Calhoun orations were delivered by Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Smith of South Carolina. Senator Tillman would have made the opening address but for his illness.

The exercises in the House incident to the acceptance by Congress of the statue of Calhoun, began at 3 o'clock and continued until adjournment. The principal address was delivered by Representative McCall of Massachusetts. Speeches were also delivered by members of the South Carolina delegation.

BLACK DEVIL OF THE SIERRAS

Romantic Nickname of a Mexican Bandit Executed for His Deeds.

Mexico City, Mexico, March 14.—A despatch from Tepic says that Encarnacion Rodriguez, known as the Black Devil of the Sierras, was shot in that town. Rodriguez was captured a few months ago by a detachment of rurales after a battle in the mountains. He is said to have committed many robberies and murders.

The first bandit raid that has taken place in the state of Guanajuato for many years is reported from the town of Irapuato. A gang of twenty armed men rode to the home of Rita Gutierrez, a wealthy citizen and with pistols drove the occupants out of the house. They robbed it of a large sum of money and valuables.

A detachment of police rushed to the scene. The bandits fired upon the police, killing three of them. Several of the brigands were wounded, but none were captured.

HOGAN'S DEATH EXPECTED

Yale's Past Great Star Slowly Passing Away.

Torrington, Ct., March 14.—James J. Hogan, former captain and star player of the Yale football team, is waging the greatest battle he ever fought, against death this time, at his father's home in Torrington, and according to his physician, Dr. W. J. Hogan of Torrington, the husky young man is nearing death's portals. Dr. Hogan said Saturday afternoon that his patient, who is suffering with acute kidney trouble, induced by overstudy, experienced a decided change for the worse Thursday, and since then his condition had gradually grown more serious. The doctor said: "Jim's death is but a matter of a few days at the most."

The supporting scaffolding had been removed too soon, and the mild weather weakened the concrete.

NEW YORK G. O. P. FIGHT

Senator Root Sees State Chairman Woodruff

BUT WITHOUT RESULT

At Least, So Both of Them Declare—It Is Expected That Woodruff Will Resign as State Chairman.

New York, March 14.—After a day of conference and compromise, the situation in the Republican party of New York state is still in the clouds. Hostilities have been postponed. Both the partisans of Senator Root, Governor Hughes and Senator Hylan, on the one hand, and of Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the state committee on the other, preserve a truce and a grim silence. There is no desire to duplicate in the Republican party the situation over the state chairmanship that lately afflicted the Democratic party. It is not wished in endeavoring to eliminate Mr. Woodruff to make him a Conners, and Mr. Root, in attempting it, does not wish to be a Murphy.

There is a strong disposition to demand that Woodruff retire, and it is understood that it was with the express intention of demanding his resignation that Senator Root came to New York Saturday night. Senator Root would not say directly yesterday that such was his purpose, but he virtually admitted it. "What do you, as judges of politics, think I came on for?" he asked the newspaper men, and when they told him what the general understanding was he added: "I seldom fail to accomplish what I set out to accomplish."

In this purpose, he held conference yesterday afternoon with Mr. Grison and James W. Wordsworth, speaker of the assembly, and Saturday night with Mr. Woodruff himself. Neither he nor Mr. Grison would discuss the outcome of these conferences, but Mr. Woodruff was more communicative. He consented to interview himself for the newspapers. "You may say this," he said: "When Mr. Woodruff was asked if Senator Root had demanded his resignation, he answered, 'Ask Root!'"

"When Mr. Root was asked if there was any question of retiring him, he answered with even more emphasis, 'Ask Woodruff!'"

"When Mr. Woodruff was asked if he intended to resign of his own volition, he answered with an emphasis bordering almost on belligerency, 'Ask Senator Root!'"

MISS BLOODGOOD'S BODY FOUND

Heiress Evidently Had Thrown Herself Into a Pond.

Lakewood, N. J., March 14.—The body of Miss Helen Bloodgood, daughter of William Bloodgood, of New York, and an heiress to a large fortune, was found in Lake Canajoharie, near Lakewood, Saturday afternoon. The young woman disappeared from her home on Wednesday night. The body, clad only in the nightgown Miss Bloodgood wore when she disappeared, was found by two townsmen, who had been dragging the bottom for three days. The body lay in about 12 feet of water, 30 feet from the shore, near a small rustic span known as "Kissing bridge." It was fully identified by the two nurses, who had charge of Miss Bloodgood when she fled last Wednesday night from the cottage of Leslie R. Fort, son of Gov. Fort of New Jersey. A cursory examination by Coroner Haganman showed no indications of murder, and it is supposed that the girl ran barefoot, through the woods to the lake, half a mile away, and threw herself into the water.

Miss Bloodgood's parents had been searching the neighborhood in automobiles for their daughter and were away when the body was found. When notified Saturday night, they were both prostrated and could not be seen. The body will probably be taken to the Bloodgood home in New York and the funeral arrangements made there.

Miss Bloodgood had been at Lakewood for two weeks under the care of a physician and two nurses. She had suffered from disordered nerves for a number of years and exhibited a constant displeasure at the restrictions put upon her liberty. On Wednesday night she eluded the nurses, jumped through a window on the lower floor and escaped. Her disappearance was not noticed until two hours after she had gone. Nine years ago she disappeared in a similar mysterious fashion, but was found in a few days. All kinds of clues as to her whereabouts have been run down since the young woman disappeared and the suicide theory was the last entertained by her relatives.

BOSTON FIREMAN KILLED

Explosion in Railway Work Shop Causes $200,000 Fire.

Boston, March 14.—Fire which caused a damage of $200,000 and resulted in the death of one fireman and serious injury to another destroyed the workshop of the Boston Elevated railway in the South and Saturday. The two firemen, Capt. Langan and Hoseman Hartman, were buried under a falling wall. At the City hospital, to which they were taken, it was found Saturday night that Capt. Langan was in a critical condition, one of his legs and both of his arms having been broken, besides other injuries. He died a few hours later. Hartman had one leg fractured, but it is believed that he will recover. The heaviest loss came through the destruction of a large amount of valuable machinery. The fire started from the explosion of a can of naphtha on the second floor of the three-story brick building, which was located at Harrison avenue, Albany street and Union park.

APACHES TRIED TO KILL GIRL

Police Rescue Member Who Had Betrayed Gang.

Paris, March 14.—Female "Apaches" attempted to carry out sentence of death, passed by their band, which was the terror of one of the suburban districts of Paris, on a woman who had denounced their lawless plans to the police.

The band had noticed that every time they made any nocturnal expedition the police appeared at the critical moment and put them to flight. The chiefs of the gang met in council of war and delegated two of their female members to discover the source by which the news of their plans reached the police.

The culprit was soon ascertained to be a girl nicknamed "Gazette," the sweetheart of a member of a rival gang. She was denounced to the chiefs and sentenced to death, her denunciations being appointed executioners.

At night they tracked their prey to the Boulevard Garibaldi, and under the railway cars assailed her with knives. The victim's life was saved by the appearance of the police, who arrested the assailants, while Gazette was taken to a hospital.

NO MORE DISTRESS FROM THE STOMACH

All Misery from Dyspepsia, Gas, Indigestion and Heartburn Vanishes and You Will Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lay like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach trouble.

WINS BET $10,000 BY SAVING $450 IN 2 YEARS

Student Untrained to Work Holds Eleven Different Jobs within That Period of Time.

St. Louis, Mo., March 14.—Elmer E. Von Viet of Elmira, N. Y., a student of social economy, has gone to his home to collect a wager of $10,000, made two years ago, that he could save $450 in twenty-four months working as a day laborer.

A. V. Mekeel, proprietor of the Elmira Courier, is the loser in the wager. He admitted his defeat in a telegram to Von Viet Monday, when the winner notified him that his bank account now totaled $450.

The wager followed an argument between the two men, Mekeel maintaining that a young man of to-day without special training has no chance to save money.

Von Viet started out with a pocket-knife and $5. Under an assumed name, "Elmer Gray," he worked as a laborer in Columbus and Cincinnati, O., and Aurora, Ill., finally drifting to St. Louis, where he held three jobs. The latest job was his best place, driving a milk wagon at $40 a month. He held eleven jobs during the two years and says but two of his employers "treated him like a white man."

His shortest tenure of a job was in Cincinnati, where he quit after working one day in a restaurant, when he saw the cook wiping her nose on a dish cloth.

CLASH IN INQUIRY

Pinchot's Counsel Resents Alleged Reflection

BY ONE OF COMMITTEE

Attorney Pepper Not—Davis Contradicts Ballinger—Chief Engineer of Reclamation Service Continues Testimony.

Washington, March 14.—A sharp clash occurred between Senator Nelson, chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot committee, and Attorney Pepper, counsel for Gifford Pinchot, near the close of Saturday's session of the inquiry, when Mr. Nelson accused the lawyer with "trifling" with the committee.

White with anger, Mr. Pepper demanded if that was the judgment of the committee, and when several members exclaimed, "Let it pass," he said a reflection had been cast upon him, and he questioned the senator's right to make such an accusation.

Mr. Pepper was referring to several letters in the record in an endeavor to have Chief Engineer Davis of the reclamation service, who was on the stand, refute several statements attributed to Secretary Ballinger to the effect that restoration of certain lands in the West to public entry, after they were withdrawn under Secretary Ballinger, had been made on recommendation of the reclamation service.

In each instance in which the question was put, the witness replied that Mr. Ballinger made a misstatement.

Mr. Davis concluded his testimony before the committee yesterday and was excused at the end of the day. He daily contradicted Secretary Ballinger in several statements, and said the two did not agree on many reclamation matters, although he hoped both were still good friends.

The so-called "black test" affair figured conspicuously in Mr. Davis' testimony. He said that E. T. Perkins, purchasing agent for the reclamation service at Chicago, went through the West testifying in a black test to advertise reclamation work under orders of Secretary Ballinger. The officials of the service were subsequently informed, he said, that Perkins was getting an allowance of $500 a month from the Harriman railway lines, besides his $3,500 salary.

DISEASE IN PAPER MONEY

One One $1 Note Were Found 62,000,000 Microbes of Various Kinds.

Washington, March 14.—Germs—62,000,000 of them—were found on a single $1 bill by scientists of the department of agriculture. The bill was exceptionally dirty. In the big colony that was thriving on the bill were the bacteria of smallpox, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, tuberculosis and diphtheria. The rest of the population were supposed to be harmless.

These facts were disclosed Saturday by Representative Wiley of New Jersey, while arguing before the subcommittee of the house banking and currency committee in favor of his bill to give the population of the country clean money.

One one dollar bill examined by a microscopist for Mr. Wiley, showed the presence of no less than 62,000,000 living organisms of various kinds. Among this little collection were the bacteria of smallpox, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, tuberculosis and diphtheria. The rest of the population were supposed to be harmless.

One bill examined by the scientists of the agricultural department showed the presence of 14,518,000 living microorganisms, said Wiley. "The secretary said that they did not find any germs on metal money. I could have told him that in advance. The action of the metal in coins, especially copper, seems to be hard on the microbes, and if any get on they die within a few hours. They will live and thrive on paper money for a long time. We find that the dollar bill, which are the most frequently circulated, are the worst from a sanitary point of view. The larger the bill, the fewer bacteria, as a rule."

$11 Hogs Arrive

Chicago, March 14.—Hogs touched the $11 mark Saturday when a carload from the West was sold at that figure. The receipts for the day, 7,000, were extremely light and buyers grabbed the few offered in a hurry. Other sales were made at $10.90 a hundredweight.

Romulus and Remus

Simon Ford, at the recent hotel men's banquet, told more than his usual quantity of timely stories.

Appropos of foreign travel Mr. Ford said: "The harsh raw winds of March will soon be on us, and happy will they be then who are on the Riviera, in Egypt, or in Rome."

"I met a man at the hotel the other day who had just returned from Rome."

"Well," said I, "how did you like the old town?"

"A very artistic city, that's what Rome is," he replied.

"Tell me," said I, "what work of art struck you most in Rome?"

"Well, sir," said he, "if you ask me, I must say that what struck me most was that gold-dusted metal group of Romulus and Remus deriving their nutriment from a she-wolf."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

WHY BASKET BALL HAS LOST ITS FAVOR

Reasons Given for Sport's Decline in the East—College Coach Gives His View.

The failure of the sterling indoor game of basketball to retain a firm hold in the college athletic world is a subject of much speculation. With the exception of Columbia and Pennsylvania and a few of the smaller colleges interest in the sport seems to be lagging. Yale cut down its schedule this year. The game seems to be in a wistful state at Cornell and

"It wasn't a half century ago that football occupied somewhat the same position that basketball did about five years ago. The game was new. All athletes, in fact, were new, and checkers and chess continued to go hand in hand as the accepted amusements of the college man. Bring those very conditions down to the present day, substituting the word 'basketball' for 'football.' Basketball isn't more than thirteen years old, and it costs about as much to run a basketball team at Wesleyan or Williams as it does at Yale."

"But the big colleges have not begun to specialize in the game, and from what I hear the game does seem to be progressing the other way. However, if the big colleges developed their interest in the sport as they have in football it would not be very long before they would completely outclass the smaller college teams."

"There are several things in which basketball differs from football and because of which it cannot become an ideal college sport. The game is more uncertain than football by far. Various obvious points explain this. The psychic element is more evident, especially in basketball off the home floor. Then the crowds are closer, and physical effects of the crowd of spectators are consequently communicated more quickly. And, furthermore, while a gridiron is a gridiron, a basketball floor is not a basketball floor. This is simply because basketball was unheard of when most gymnasiums were built, and the differences of courts are apt to give a home team a great advantage in many cases and make any team's play throughout the season seem erratic and inconsistent."

Johnson Quits Penn. The University of Pennsylvania has lost her best lawn tennis player. Owing to sickness Wallace F. Johnson, the intercollegiate champion, has left that institution, and old Penn will be materially weakened on the courts this year. Johnson is generally regarded as the strongest player of the younger generation of lawn tennis experts and when in form is looked upon as a likely American champion. Last fall Johnson won the intercollegiate championship from Melville H. Long, the Californian, and G. P. Gardner, Jr., Harvard's ex-champion. With Alexander D. Travers Johnson won the doubles championship and in every prominent tournament for a year or two has been a conspicuous competitor.

Hansen, Captain and Forward of Minnesota Basketball Team. Hansen, Minnesota's star forward and captain, is one of the best basketball players the west ever produced. He has been a member of the Gopher five for the last three years.

Princeton, Harvard and Amherst have dropped it from their athletic category, and Brown is contemplating so doing. Other smaller colleges throughout the country, once warm supporters of basketball, have either dropped the game or are confining it to interclass matches.
